

Values and ideology in TV discourse: A one-day interdisciplinary colloquium on recent research

University of Sussex – School of English Friday November 22nd 2013

The event aims to contribute to the interdisciplinary critical discussion on the many aspects of television and encourage a productive dialogue between linguists, media scholars and professionals.

- There is a charge of £10 to attend. Pre-register by emailing Roberta Piazza at r.piazza@sussex.ac.uk
- Tea and coffee will be provided.

Provisional programme

FULTON Building Room 202

- 10.00 Welcome, registration & coffee
- 10.30 Helen Caple (Media - University of New South Wales)
Values in online video news summaries
- 11.10 Nuria Lorenzo-Dus (Linguistics - Swansea University)
Television and 'the commemoration cure': A cross-cultural approach
- 11.50 Clive Jones Chairman, Disasters Emergency Committee (DEC) and former CEO, News and Regions ITV.
It is not a disaster if it doesn't make the ten o'clock news.
- 12.30 Catriona Bonfiglioli (Media – UTS Sydney)
Obesity in TV news
- 13.10 – 14.10 Lunch break
- 14.20 Monika Bednarek (Linguistics - Sydney University)
Values and ideology in US TV series
- 15.00 James Bennett (Media – Royal Holloway)
Valuing multiplatform: Discourses of quality in digital television
- 15.40 – 16.00 Coffee break
- 16.00 Anne Caborn (Digital consultant)
Me TV - from Walter Cronkite to dash cams
- 16.40 Roberta Piazza (Linguistics - Sussex University)
Stigma and entertainment on Channel 5 and BBC1
- 17.10 Final reflection on the day's paper and close